The Living with Fire symposium will bring together experts in fire ecology and management, community planning, fire safety and preparedness, and global change. The intended audience includes property owners, the general public, policy makers, planners, managers, scientists, educators, and any others who are interested in the intersection of human communities and fire. The event is sponsored by a coalition of educational, fire and resource management, and extension organizations.

Registration cost: $50/person for both days — please register by May 1, 2018

This will include coffee/tea, lunch, and parking for both days. If this cost presents a barrier, we are offering fee waivers, especially for those who were affected by the fires and scholarships for students willing to volunteer; please visit the website for an application. <http://www.cafiresci.org/events-webinars-source/category/livingwithfirecoastranges>

May 7 & 8 • will be devoted to presentations by subject experts, with question-and-answer sessions and ample opportunity for audience participation during structured discussions. The program can be found on the website.

May 9 • will feature a series of field trips to fire-affected communities and landscapes in Sonoma and Napa Counties. Space is limited and pre-registration is required. Field trip registration is separate and can be completed at <http://ucan:redu/lwfield>
